Open Education Global - Regional & Thematic Communities

The Open Education Latin America Regional Node (OE LATAM) is a community driven network that works cooperatively to establish, coordinate, and sustain a regional ecosystem that further enhances the development of OER/Open Education initiatives and practices in the region.

The Community College Consortium for Open Educational Resources (CCCOER) is an OE Global regional node primarily focused on supporting the adoption and use of OER, practices, and resources by community colleges across the USA and Canada.

The Open Education Francophone is a language node focused on the French-speaking communities of OEGlobal.
It provides a space for dialogue and support to French speaking members from all around the world.
